Master Collis Johnson proved a splendid host. Here's wishing him many happy returns.

Place Your Orders For V. C. Fertilizer Before It Is Too Late.

The season is late and the tobacco plants are late and slow in starting, which is likely to give us a late crop. We should do everything possible to shove the crop forward as much as possible by fertilizing plant beds and ground. Sow a little fertilizer over the plants after they come up, and if the ground is too loose, roll it. It will give you plants ten days sooner, and 200 pounds drilled in the row or 400 pounds all over the ground will ripen up your crop two weeks sooner with good color.

John W. Barker of Fayette county, used it last year on half of his tobacco ground. It increased his yield and he sold that part of the crop at $85. average. The other part of the crop planted and sold at same time averaged $50.00, and his crop of burley was twice as good where he used the fertilizer. W. S. Jennings, near Cynthia, left it off of thirteen rows to test it, and he says the difference could be seen as far as you could see the field.

Don't be afraid to spend four or five dollars to make a bright crop and then come howling because you don't get a high price. Our V. C. Fertilizer is put up to make bright tobacco, the only kind that is wanted. The price is $48.50 per ton.

Try it. Most of those who have done so, continue to use it; although last year the season was so dry that they did not get full benefit of it. Mr. Henry Curtis, of the Kentucky Experiment Station, says you get the benefit from tobacco or corn fertilizer in the following crops for some years to come. Hunt Lowery, near Wilmore, says you could see the improvement in the following crops on the part of his field where he used it for four years.

J. J. Hill, the railroad man and great farm builder, showed on 150 farms that he could double the yield of his crop in one year by the use of fertilizer.

Experiments made on fertilized plots last year was 45 bushels of wheat per acre, while the yield on all unfertilized plots the same year was only 13 bushels per acre.

Our government is calling on the people to fertilize their crops and increase their yield to feed the starving world, and while labor is so high you can't afford not to do so. And you can't afford to overcrop yourself or overcrowd your barn and make a late dark crop.

Some predict $2.50 a bushel for wheat at harvest. It will pay to sow it all over the ground and make a fine tobacco and wheat crop and get a good stand of grass following it. If you sow the wheat early, you can graze it for several months.

Parties who have spoken for it, should come and get it or have it set aside and marked for them, as the demand is so heavy the company may not be able to furnish it later.

Hudson, Hughes and Farnau.

Only four more years until we will be subjected to all of this campaigning again. Surely our good forefathers wished a bunch of agony on to us when they framed the constitution.
